

Scribble

This design is meant to make you feel like your scribbles became alive, and you are secretly playing with them during class. The little monsters are animated to look around and move, so there is a lot of movement and life while playing the game.

The treasures are replaced by diamonds. With these diamonds you trigger the crushes, so the game can still be named DiamondCrush.

If you build rectangles with monsters of the same colour, it will merge to a big monster. If you build a long rectangle the monster will look very funny.

The stones are replaced by poo. This will be the biggest fun-factor of the game because you are able to poo into the field of your enemy. Before the poo appears in your field a warning will show up in form of a big yellow sticker with an arrow pointing at your side.
